Personal(Faculty) projects

You can find some of my projects here: <https://github.com/asmer085>

Developed a lots of projects with Object-Oriented and Functional Programming. In these projects, I have built different data structures and applied various types of algorithms in areas such as graph theory, computational geometry, dynamic programming, greedy methods, and other approaches. I've completed multiple courses at my university that covered these methods in depth.

Designed a lot of relational and non-relational databases throughout my education.
